Directional transfer separates a conditional relational gain from a universal GAT claim

